To whom it may concern:

This will be a testimony of the value and impact of the seminar presented in Dallas, Texas in February 2007, by Michael Kidwell.

The two day seminar that I recently attended by Michael Kidwell was significantly useful to my staff and me. The course content, the manner of delivery and the practical philosophical aspects of the program made it a very worthy investment. The presenter also provided substantial reference resources to cover the numerous aspects of effective communications and personal development.

I would highly recommend Michael Kidwell's training without any hesitation, to all business professionals that desire maximum customer satisfaction and successful career growth.
